Deputy Chief Constable Michaela Kerr attended the Police Public Bravery Awards 2025 with Nathan Selby of Market Harborough, who saved a one-year-old child from drowning. Mr Selby was walking through Wel-land Park with his family just before Christmas 2024, when his daughter saw something in the river that looked like a teddy bear. He heard a woman shouting that she was looking for her one-year-old daughter in a yellow coat. He realised the little girl was floating downstream. He immediately jumped into the water, grabbed her and carried her to safety where she received life-saving resuscitation from an off-duty doctor. Mr Selby snapped a ligament in his leg when he jumped into the water. The little girl was taken to hospital and has since made a full recovery. Mr Selby was presented with a silver award at the ceremony in recognition of his heroic actions. He said; "I was so surprised when I found out I had been put forward for a national bravery award. What happened was a complete accident and, as a parent myself, I can't think of anything worse. I'd do it again. Just knowing she is ok makes my life a brighter place and I hope she goes on to do wonderful things."

Despite the chilly and wet weather, the Christmas light switch on in the square in Market Harborough was a success, with a good turnout and cheery revellers.
