Joint policing effort locates missing person in mental-health crisis

A coordinated policing response led to finding a missing person in a mental-health crisis. The individual has been reported earlier in the day, with growing concerns for their welfare. The Aylestone Police team conducted foot patrols in the area and soon found the person standing next to a busy road.

Officers assessed the situation and determined that the use of section 136 powers of the Mental Health act were necessary to ensure the individual's safety. The person was taken into protective care where they were able to receive the help and support they needed.

PCSO's take action on speeding drivers

Police Community Support Officers were recently given new traffic powers to enable them to issue tickets for a variety of offences including speeding!

PCSO's were on a local road in the Aylestone area conducting speed checks which caught people exceeding the 30mph speed limit, with excess speeds of up to 40 & 50mph! People faced enforcement action along with fixed penalty tickets.
