Harborough's PC Matt Wilsher has had quite the career as a professional football coach. Having spent time in the MLS and Brazilian Premier league with teams Chicago Fire and Fluminense before travelling to Portugal to study under the Special One. Matt then chose to follow in the footsteps of his dad, who was an inspiration to him and became a police officer. Being community minded he put a local team of u15's through their paces. Rising Hope is a team that epitomises what grassroots football stands for, and is led by their coach and chairman Graham Carley.

Matt was able to showcase some of the coaching techniques that he has used on the professionals with the view of allowing the team to progress their skill sets, fitness and mobility.
